

Weekly Round Up

Friday, 3 March 2017

Another busy week for everyone at Pre School with Pancake Day, St David's Day and World Book Day being celebrated. Lisa, our regular parent volunteer came in and helped the children prepare and cook pancakes which they ate for snack. At the Boswells Young Leaders sessions some of the children had pancake races and took turns to flip them over. On St David's Day the children made craft pictures of daffodils to represent Welsh Culture. For World Book Day many of the children and staff dressed up to represent their favourite characters from stories. The home corner was turned into a house for Goldilocks and the Three Bears with bowls for porridge. Crystal read the lovely story of Lima's Red Hot Chilli using real food which feature in the story. It helped to make the experience more interactive and interesting and is one of Pre-School's favourites! Next week Rachel will be coming in to help the children with a cooking activity and making banana, orange and oaty bites - yum yum!

Interest Basket

Our interest basket has been very popular this week with a brown owl, soft toys and books amongst the items brought in. Plenty for discussion at Circle Time.

Maths in the Early Years

Next week we will be supporting maths skills for our children. A new report released this week by The Fair Education Alliance (FEA) numeracy group pointed out that settings that were bringing maths into all activities, and adapting the learning environment so that it became numeracy-focussed were successful in improving maths skills for children. At Pre-School, we try to incorporate maths into every activity so children have every opportunity to extend their learning.
